

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention is directed to a method and apparatus for maintaining the patency of vascular catheter lumens so as to keep such lumens open and unobstructed when an indwelling catheter is not being used to administer treatment.